Summary. The virus that causes 2019 Coronavirus Disease (COVID-19) is easily transmitted through person-to-person contact, especially in group settings, and it is essential that the spread of the virus be slowed to protect the ability of public and private healthcare providers to handle the influx of new patients and safeguard public health and safety. Because of the risk of the rapid spread of the virus and the need to protect the most vulnerable members of the community, this Order encourages the following minimum recommended health protocols for all retailers who are considering re-opening or who have opened their businesses. These minimum health protocols are not a limit on the health protocols that individuals may adopt. Individuals are encouraged to adopt additional protocols consistent with their specific needs and circumstances to help protect the health and safety of people in Harris County.

This Order is issued to further the goals and policies of the State of Texas as set forth in the Governor's executive orders and is to be construed consistent with and in harmony with the terms of such executive orders.

This Order takes effect upon signing and continuing until 11:59 p.m. on June 10, 2020, unless terminated or modified by an earlier order, the County Judge of the County of Harris, Texas, deems it in the public interest to order the following.

- f. Have workers wash hands when entering the building and provide hand sanitizer at accessible locations, including all restrooms and food preparation areas. Workers should wash their hands for at least twenty (20) seconds before beginning work, before initiating any food preparation, after any meal or restroom breaks, and immediately before the end of the work shift;

 - u. Designate shopping times for at-risk populations (seniors, pregnant people, and people with underlying health conditions) and exclude other shoppers not in those populations, with the exception of caregivers or individuals necessary to assist the member(s) of the at-risk populations;

 - x. Post the CDC guidelines for social distancing and face-covering, as well as information for workers to submit complaints regarding any negligent disregard for such guidelines, in a conspicuous place or places on a site where notices to workers are customarily posted in languages understood by all persons working there;
 - y. Avoid adverse action against a worker who submits complaints of any violations of the health and safety rules mandated by relevant laws;
 - z. Avoid adverse action against a worker who declines to work at a retail business if the worker believes in good faith that the site presents an imminent health risk of the worker or others due to COVID-19; and
 - aa. Avoid adverse action against a worker who has been quarantined, or advised to self-quarantine, due to possible exposure to COVID-19.
4. Retailers further are urged to plan for the eventuality in which a worker contracts COVID-19 and must be absent from work. To that end, it is recommended that:

- a. If a worker has a temperature above 100 degrees Fahrenheit or is confirmed to have COVID-19, the worker should be sent home immediately. Employers should notify the relevant local health department, inform all workers who are believed to have been in contact with the individual that a co-worker has been confirmed to have COVID-19 in accordance with state and federal law, and take actions consistent with appropriate protocols to prevent the further spread of the disease;
 - b. When a retail worker is suspected to have COVID-19 or has been diagnosed with COVID-19, the Food and Drug Administration recommends that retailers:
 - i. Close off areas used by the person who is sick;
 - ii. Clean and disinfect a sick worker's workspace. Wait twenty-four (24) hours or, if twenty-four (24) hours is not possible, as long as practical before you clean or disinfect;
 - iii. Open outside doors and windows to increase air circulation in the exposed area, if reasonable given food safety regulations;
 - iv. Collect information about the worker's contacts among co-workers, up to two (2) days prior to symptom onset, to identify other workers who could be considered exposed; and
 - v. If a worker is confirmed infected, inform fellow workers of their possible exposure to COVID-19 in the workplace but maintain confidentiality as required by the Americans with Disabilities Act. The employer should instruct fellow workers about how to proceed based on the CDC Public Health Recommendations for Community-Related Exposure.
 - c. Determine how you will operate with a reduced staff if workers cannot work due to illness, staying home to care for sick family members and those who must stay home to watch their children;
 - d. Prepare to implement flexible work and leave policies;
 - e. If the employer has not done so already, explore opportunities for staggered schedules to limit time spent in close contact;
